Energy Efficiency Rating & Environmental Impact (CO₂) Rating

The energy efficiency rating is a measure of the overall efficiency of a home. The higher the rating the more energy efficient the home is and the lower the fuel bills will be.

The environmental impact rating is a measure of a home’s impact on the environment in terms of carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions. The higher the rating the less impact it has on the environment.

Drink Me Eat Me

Drink Me Eat Me is a magical tea parlour, brimming with all things shiny, sparkly, colourful and kitsch. It’s a wonderful place for kids and adults alike, offering tea in gorgeous bone china teacups and a lip-smacking selection of cakes and treats worthy of the Mad Hatter himself. The eatery also offers kids activities and classes – from ballet to French – a private back area where parents can relax...

POD Fitness

As the days grow warmer working out outside is becoming even more appealing, so it is ideal that on Tuesday morning I find myself walking through Ravenscourt Park at 9am for my class that is about to begin with POD Fitness. We couldn’t have chosen a better day for it, the sun is shining through the trees and it is feeling like a summers morning as myself and Sophie assemble, ready for our class to...

Lumi Power Yoga

Featured in OM magazines Amazing Places and now part of Portco Places, Lumi Power Yoga is the place to go in Hammersmith if you’re in need of a good stretch. They specialise in hot power vinyasa yoga, but offer a range of classes to suit everybody, from newbies to mums-to-be to expert yogis. I headed to King Street to find out why this is the best place to practise your downward dog Forget limbering...

The Stonemasons Arms

The days of popping in to the local for a quick pint are over. Nowadays, 90% of pub visits involve the eating of food so going gastro is not just trendy, it’s necessary. Luckily for The Stonemasons Arms, they’re one of the few London watering holes that can claim their food really is as good as their drink The Stonemasons Arms on Cambridge Grove is one of Hammersmith’s most popular pubs, packed every...
