Area Overview

Much gentrified in recent years, Islington has become very popular with city professionals and young families alike. Upper St, the beating heart of Islington, offers an enormous choice of upmarket bars, restaurants and shops. Many of the period properties are Georgian terraces, but several new and luxurious apartment blocks replete with gyms, restaurants and swimming pools, have recently been completed.

Meat People

Vegetarian and vegan diets have been in the limelight and nearly every new restaurant that pops up offers a plate of veg or two. However at this restaurant, carnivores come up trumps and meat is trending. So what is it that makes Meat People stand out? I headed to N1 with a plus one to see why Islington's newest eatery is regarded as a big, fat juicy cut above the rest. Located in a 1920s Grade II-listed...

It's the perfect people watching spot whether you stop for breakfast and watch the world go by, or dinner and stare out on the bright lights and buzz of Islington at night. It's also one of Upper Streets most popular first date venue...

The Taproom

If you like real ale, you'll love The Taproom. This urban boozer started life as a pop-up in 2012, but had such raging success with beer conscious locals that it now has a permanent home on Upper Street. They serve their own microbrews and beers straight from the cask, plus a delicious range of artisan meat and cheese boards and hand-rolled pizzas. Cask lovers, need we say more? The Taproom is relaxe...

Masala Zone Islington

If it's good enough for The Evening Standard's legendary restaurant critic, Fay Maschler, then it sure is good enough for us. The dishes here are guaranteed to make you swoon with the menu split between modern Indian street-food and a splendid spread of more traditional, regional dishes! We popped into Masala Zone in Camden to check it out for ourselves. Read my review here...
